

Franklin D. Holbert

October 25, 1936 - January 4, 2025

Reaching the Shore

In the dark night of sorrow, came a bright and loving light, the Beautiful Vision, surpassing human sight.

I heard the Master calling lovingly, upon the shore,
"Come, let down the net of life that I may give you more."

There was no death, my darling, for my immortal soul just reached my destination, for heaven was my goal.