“ My auntee was my bestie, this has been by far one of the hardest struggle loosing you. I have so many memories of you. I remember when you got Your canopy bed it was pink. I loved spending the night with you, staying up late and just having a good time. When we got older, it was like you was my sister not my aunt. You did everything for me, I remember I would come over and go through your closet to find something cute to go out in. You would always have just what I needed to look grown and cute. Whatever I needed you would give to me, no questions asked. You would always try to get me to go thrifting with you. I just couldn't do it, I hated it. But I loved to see what treasures you would find. Lol then I would ask if I could borrow it. I would always say dang how did you find that. I know you didn't get that from the thrift store and she would always say, yes I did. And it would be name brands items. There is so much I will always remember. Your laughter always just brought joy to my heart. Your contagious smile brightened my dark days. I really loved our talks, boy did we have alot to say, we would laugh so hard. I am really really going to miss you! Rest in Peace Auntee give my mom and dad a big hug and kiss. Until we see each other again I love you!!!!

“ Nita in my book was the fashionista of Eleanor Street. She introduced me to shopping at thrift stores for unusual clothing pieces. Our favorite thrift store was the Purple House on East Charleston and a few others located downtown, she had a knack for pairing items together, and the whole outfit would be so cute!

To the fashionista, the woman with the enchanting smile, known as Nita, Rest in Peace! You will never be forgotten!

“ How do I say the words goodbye again! My sexy thang is gone. You and my mom have left me so empty inside. I never imagined losing you both six months apart from each other. You were the aunt who enjoyed life to the fullest and didn't care what anyone had to say and the aunt who always came to see my mom no matter the distance. Please tell her I miss her and I'm trying to hold it together for her here on earth. I love you and I miss you.

“ Let me begin like the morning sunrise and share memories that I have always cherished I'm sure some of you all will share some of your sunny days as well. All the way up to my auntie's sunset. I remember my auntie Nita' with laughter and joy she was my grandmama's treasure. Grandma was very protective over Nita. The Lord field our cup with an everlasting Bond of love I was the oldest niece yet she was my auntie and younger than me. Before she passed I visit her at the hospital. When I walked into her room her eyes lit up so big and bright with a big beautiful smile. This precious day will always be the highlight of my life I will forever hold a dear to my heart-it meant so much to me to feel such a warmth and her big smile she looked at me as if it was her lucky day. Yes and on the inside I was filled with a joy unspeakable just to see her smile and light up like she did. We partially grew up together years and years ago when we were little girls at Grandma's house which was her mama's house. May they both R.I.P. we live together as kids me Sandy DeLeon and Nita. As well as some of her older brothers and sisters. In our own little world with grandmama she was our prime role model. Everyday felt like summer to us because we didn't spend much time outside-we grew up close just like the sun, the Stars and the Moon are to the sky. Spread your wings auntie Nita like an angel and the doves because I believe you can fly I love you, your niece Debra Zellis

“ *I'm just so baffled and beyond hurt I don't know where to begin. This was my sister, my best friend, my children's aunt she had a lot of hats in my home. She will be very much missed. We talked all the time I always can remember how I made her laugh and giggle that's all we did every time we spoke. It was always laughter, after laughter after laughter, that's how the kids were really know who she was talking to because we couldn't stop laughing with each other always playing always joking. This just takes a lot from me, but I want the children to know you guys are always in my heart and PRAYERS , reach out to me anytime I'm here.
