Memories Eternal

Precious are the memories
Displaying smiles and tears
Placed lovingly in albums
Passed down throughout the years
Quickly all the days go by
And time cannot erase
Love shining from the faces
On every treasured page
Traits through generations
Reflected still today
A unique smile, a sound of voice
The way that you prayed
When the final page is turned
Still destiny goes on
To make eternal memories
When the life is done

“ Sylvia was our cousin. She was a week older than my dad. I have fond memories of her growing up and mom took an amazing trip to Spain and Portugal in 1988 with her that she still talks about. We lost touch with her after the holidays. May she rest in peace. She is pain free now. I know you're smiling now!!
